ADDS HIS APPROVAL TO BOND ISSUE FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT

R. L. Munce, President of Good Roads Association Favors It

ISSUES STATEMENT TO VOTERS

Interest in the good roads amendment to the constitution of Pennsylvania is increasing and prospects are indeed favorable that it will be largely supported by the voters of Washington county Indeed it is expected the county will give a majority for this amendment, the passage of which will mean so much for the good roads campaign of the entire state.

R. L. Munce, known to many Charleroi people, one of the prominent farmers of the county, and President of the Pennsylvania Good Roads Association, on Wednesday issued a statement summing up the situation regarding the $50,000,000 bond issue for road improvements, which comes before the voters on Tuesday next. Mr. Munce said:

"Boiled down, the bond issue proposition is simply this:

"Pennsylvania voters are asked to approve an amendment to the constitution providing that the state may issue bonds to a total of $50,000,000 the money to be used for road improvement.

"Approval by the voters is only the first step. The legislature then passes enabling legislation, setting forth what amount of bonds will be issued, when they shall be issued and how they will be issued. I do not believe it possible that over $10,000,000 worth will be issued at any one time.

"No bonds will be issued until after the war. Work on the roads will begin after the war.

"If in the reconstruction period which follows the coming of peace, Pennsylvania labor is idle for any reason the state, if the bond issue is approved, will have the money with which to build roads and employ many thousands of men at good wages.

"The completion of the main-road system in every county in the state, possible if the bond issue is approved will mean an end to fuel famines such as gripped Pennsylvania last winter. It will mean cheaper farm produce, because farmers are able to use the roads 365 days a year, instead of only in good weather. It will mean that loads will be pulled over the highways instead of through them, as is the case with our miles of mudways.

"There is nothing political or partisan about the proposition. It is aimed simple to build Pennsylvania the best highway system in America. The persons who oppose the state's going into debt for this purpose might with as much reason oppose the issuing of Liberty Bonds by the United States government. The road bond issue, if it goes through, simply means that Pennsylvania will ride on its roads and send its trucks and wagons over the roads while the roads are being paid for. Every householder in Pennsylvania—every citzen who has his own interest at heart and who wishes to lower the cost of his own living, will vote to pull Pennsylvania out of the mud."

LAKE ERIE WILL PAY MEN BY CHECK

The management of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad has notified banks along its lines that hereafter it will pay its employes by check. These financial institutions have been asked to honor these checks when presented by t he railroad men, which they will be very glad to do.

HEALTH SITUATION SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

The local health report this morning showed that influenza had appeared in 16 new homes on Thursday with 25 new cases. Reports from the plate glass works, shows that 8 cases have developed among the workmen who are housed on the mill property. While this shows an increase in number of cases over Wednesday, the health authorities believe the crest of the epidemic has passed in Charleroi and that from this time on rapid improvement will be shown.

At the emergency hospital thirty patients are now being treated. Those in charge have succeeded in obtaining some excellent help, among them being W. A. Rankin, a graduate nurse who has charge of the men's ward, and Miss Mable Sellars of Belle Vernon, who has just returned home from Chester, Pa., where she assisted in the emergency hospital work. Additional volunteer workers are Miss Estelle Dunkeley, Miss Ellen Clark, Miss Ellen Speers and George W. Bailey. The hospital has room for ten additional cases, if it should be necessary to admit that number of additional patients.

The directors wishes it understood that the facilities of the hospital are confined to those patients who come from the district included in the Charleroi area of the Red Cross.

Just now there is urgent need of people to come to the hospital and do laundry work. Those who come will be well paid and they are guaranteed that no danger will ensue. The clothes are well sterilized before being washed, thus eliminating all germs of the influenza.

Affairs about the hospital are now working smoothly and in a most satisfactory manner. It has been a great help to the health board and to the community, providing as it did such splendid facilities for those who under ordnary circumstances would not have received such excellent treatment

ONE BODY TO CONTROL ARMY SERVICE WELFARE

All activities connected with the welfare of enlisted men outside of the camps and cantonments heretofore conducted independently by the Y. M. C. Donora Is Hard Hit By The Influenza

Health conditions, due to the epidemic of the influenza, continue very serious in Donora. While the number of new cases reported on Thursday were not quite so large as on the previous days, the number of deaths have been increasing, most of the patients developing pneumonia immediately after being attacked by the influenza.

An additional hospital was opened in the Italian hall on Thursday, in order to relieve conditions at the Lithuanian hall, which is also being used as an emergency hospital and where about fifty cases are now being treated.

The local physicians are again in charge of the situation, five army doctors and fourteen nurses who had been assigned to that town having left on Wednesday. Many of the citizens thought their leaving was premature, as the need of physicians and nurses is imperative. Two business men of the community, Samuel Davidson and Aaron Zisser died during the week, while other deaths have kept all the undertakers quite busy. On Thursday one undertaker in the town had 18 funerals.

The return of Dr. Rupert to Webster has relieved the situation somewhat, as he will look after patients in the town opposite Donora, thus taking a great deal of work from the shoulders of the Donora physicians.

Today a health survey is being made under direction of the health authorities by the Home Defense Police. The entire borough will be canvassed and when the census is completed the authorities will know exactly the health condition of the borough. Many pitiable cases developed during the week, whole families being down with the malady, and left without medical attention or medicine, simply because neighbors or health officials knew nothing of their condition. The authorities are working night and day to relieve the situation and hope for an alleviation with the advent of colder weather. It is estimated there are over 1,000 cases now in Donora.

Interest Increasing In Political Campaign

The political campaign in Washington county, which up to this time has been very quiet and which has attracted but very little attention, seems to have warmed up somewhat during the past few days. During the Liberty Loan drive none of the political campaign committee was able to get any work done and even now this is somewhat difficult owing to the fact that the quarantine against the influenza prevails in a greater or less degree in every community in the county. This condition of affairs has made it somewhat difficult for leaders to get a line on the situation or get any idea of the sentiment which prevails among the voters, in order to judge of the necessary amount of work that ought to be done between now and next Tuesday.

Washington county Republicans, like those throughout the nation, have been stirred up by the partisan appeal made by President Wilson for the election of a Democratic Congress and it has served to unite the party as nothing else could have done. That the Republican county committee has taken advantage of this situation goes without saying and there is much more confidence among the Republican leaders than at any time since the campaign was formally opened.

Chairman A. V. Lewis and Secretary H. R. Campbell are busy these days getting in touch with the workers throughout the county and in reaching every enrolled voter by letter and otherwise to bring to their attention the issues of the campaign and the importance of getting out the Republican vote

Senator Sproul, Republican candidate for Governor and the entire Republican state ticket are almost everywhere being given loyal support. In a few districts it was reported a few weeks ago that Senator Sproul would be cut on account of his position on the prohobitory amendment, but on the other hand hundreds of Democrats will not vote for Bonniwell for governor because of his position on many questions in which they are interested. He has alienated a very large element in the Democratic party because he has made booze his sole issue, and because he has defied the health authorities in its rulings in the present fight against the influenza epidemic. Factionalism also within the Democratic party has served to make more clear the unity of the Republicans.

Congressman Henry W. Temple will have a united Republican vote in the county because of his fine record and support of war and all those administrative measures that had to do with the successful prosecution of the war.

For State senate, Joseph A. Herron of Monongahela, the Republican candidate, is regarded as one of the strong men on the ticket and has the united support of his party. Greene county is expected to give a majority for Stewart, but Washington county is expected to overcome those figures.

The Republican candidates for Assembly are D. M. Curran, Dr. J. Add Sprowls and George T. Walker all of whom are expected to be elected by substantial majorities.

TRAINMEN WARNED AGAINST COLDS

Conductors and brakemen employed on the Pennsylvania are warned to dress properly as a safeguard against taking cold when riding on express trains with unheated cars, as result of the steady increase of freight equipment for that service.

PRICES ARE NOT CHANGED FOR COAL FROM WAGON MINES

Coal for Domestic Use Is Continued at $3.00 Per Ton

DELIVERY PRICE ADDITIONAL

The fuel administration for the Pittsburg district has announced a continuation of the prices for the wagon mines in this section, which were fixed last August. Local operators, however, have had considerable trouble in securing competent labor and at times havefound it somewhat difficult in keeping their mines going at their capacity. Car service on the whole has been quite satisfactory which has been an element in their favor.

Mr. Kuhn the fuel administrator, says that the wagon mines have been filling individual orders from consumers and thus a great burden has been lifted from retail yards. Consumers may communicate with the fuel administration regarding a supply of coal from the district mines. The prices are announced as follows:

For coal not moving by rail a manufacturer or large consumer making a blanket contract with a wagon mine for the entire daily output of any one or more of these mines delivery to take place each day of the week as the coal is produced the maximum price shall be $2.45 per net ton, f. o. b., mine platform.

For all coal so purchased in large quantities for public institutions, hospitals, office buildings, large apartments, small manufacturing operations, mercantile establishments and like institutions, including a supply to retail coal dealers, the maximum price (where not taking the full and complete output of the mine and providing for its continuous operation without interruption) shall be $2.75 per net ton, f. o. b., mine platform

For those consumers of coal ordinarily covered by the term "domestic users" and taking only small quantities and especially any consumers not in the first and second classes above mentioned, the maximum price shall be $3 per net ton f. o. b., mine platform

Hauling charges by truck being:

First mile or part thereof, 70c per ton

Over one mile up to and including two miles, 80c per ton.

Over two miles up to and including three miles, 95c per ton.

Over three miles up to and including four miles $1.15 per ton.

Over four miles up to and including five miles $1.30 per ton.

Over five miles up to and including six miles $1.50 per ton.

Over six miles up to and including seven miles $1.85 per ton.

Over seven miles up to and including eight miles $2.15 per ton.

Where coal is delivered by truck it shall be on the basis net the teamster for wagon, two horses and driver at the rate of $9.00 per day.

JUDGE BONNIWELL IS EXPECTED IN CHARLEROI

Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell of Philadelphia, Democratic candidate for Governor, is expected to be in Charleroi this evening for a short time to meet a number of his supporters. He is scheduled to arrive in Monessen some time this afternoon and after concluding his visit there will come to Charleroi. Judge Bonniwell is making a tour of the southwestern counties and his supporters are hopeful that he will make a good showing on election day.

WEBSTER HARD HIT BY THE INFLUENZA

The little town of Webster, opposite Donora, was in a deplorable condition from a health standpoint the first part of the week. Without any physicians in the town and it being impossible to secure the services of one, people were at their wit's end in order to get medical relief for those who were suffering from the influenza At one time t here were 16 bodies in the morgue Monday night, mostly of foreign residentss Citizens expect an improvement of conditions, as a physician has been loaned by the United States Army to handle the situation until affairs are normal.

A USE FOR EVERY APPLE

Don't let apples spoil on the ground because there is no use to take care of them. The United States Food Administration suggests that you organize your community forces to take care of the apple crops on the farms and country places round about since the farmers find that it does not pay them to gather the windfalls. Stored away in the "culls" are quantities of sugar—real sugar. Why send to Java for it? Sirup made from the clear apple juice is delicions for all sorts of table and cooking uses.

Apple Sirup

Stir into seven gallons of sweet cider five ounces of powdered calcium carbonate—a harmless, low-priced chemical—and boil in a large kettle five minutes. If a large vessel is not available the cider may be boiled in batches. After boiling, pour it into glass jars and allow it to settle until perfectly clear, which requires about seven hours. Return the clear liquid to the preserving kettle, being careful not to pour off any of the sediment. Fill the vessel only about half full, as it foams up when boiling. Add a level teaspoonful of the calcium carbonate for the seven gallons of liquid and boil rapidly until a temperature of 122 degrees is reached or until it is about one-seventh of the original volume and the consistency of maple sirup when cooled rapidly and poured from a spoon.

To insure clear sirup the cooling must be done slowly. A good way is to set the jars of sirup in a wash-boiler of hot water and allow the whole to cool. Use this sirup like any other table sirup and as a flavoring adjunct. Also as sauce for puddings and for making brown bread, fruit-cake and candy.

Sweet Pickled Apples.

1 1-2 quarts vinegar.
1 1-2 quarts water.
2 quarts dark sirup.
4 sticks cinnamon.
4 tablespoons allspice.
8 lbs sweet apples.
4 tablespoons unground cloves.
1-2 teaspoon salt.

Cook together the vinegar, water, sirup and spices for 5 minutes. Peel and quarter the apples. Stick 2 cloves into each quarter. Drop the apples into the boiling sirup and simmer until tender. Pack in hot jars. Cover with boiling sirup. Partially seal and sterilize for 10 minutes. Seal tightly. Let cool. Label and store.

Apple Catsup

1 quart unsweetened apple sauce
1 teaspoon ginger.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
1 teaspoon cloves.
1 teaspoon pepper.
1 teaspoon mustard.
1 teaspoon onion extract.
2 teaspoons salt.
1 pint vinegar.

Simmer slowly until thick, bottle and seal. A similar catsup can be made from plums and grape and spiced to taste. Sorghum or molasses may be added if a sweet sauce is liked.

Dried Apples.

Pare, core and slice, dropping slices into cold water containing eight teaspoonfuls of salt to the gallon if a light-colored product is desired. Leaving them a minute or two in the salt water will prevent discoloration. (If preferred, core the whole fruit, after peeling and slice into rings, dipping these for a minute or two into cold salted water as described above.) Remove surface moisture. Drying time is 4 to 6 hours, or until leathery and pliable. Start at temperature of 110 degrees F, and raise gradually to 150 degrees. If desired, apples may be dried in the sun until the surface begins to wrinkle and then finished in the drier.

DEMOCRACY AT HOME

It is surprising to find a Senator of the United States virtually proposing to give the President autocratic powers in the matter of treaty making at the very moment when the President is insisting that such powers shall be taken away from the Emperor of Germany. Senator Lewis of Illinois is evidently moved by patriotic impulses and no doubt means well, but he can hardly realize what he is doing when he offers a resolution seeking to commit the Senate in advance to approval of "whatever methods he (the President) may employ to achieve the results of victorious peace and the establishment of the principles for which the United States entered the war."

If Senator Lewis had worded his resolution so as to make it merely an expression of confidence in the discretion, judgment and patriotism of President Wilson in the exercise of his executive functions in these troublous times, it would be both above criticism and highly commendable. But it seeks to give the President powers with which the Constitution has not invested him. Peace when made is a matter of treaty and under the Constitution the President can make treaties only with the advice and consent of the Senate, two-thirds of the Senators present being required to give their votes in order to secure any treaty's ratification. This basic rule has not always been strictly obeyed. President Roosevelt, for example, concluded a treaty with San Domingo and put it into execution six months before the Senate knew of its existence. It may be noted, further, that thre is more excuse for ignoring this rule in time of war than during peace. But, aside from the ever-present need of upholding our governmental structure and preserving the existing balance between the co-ordinate branches of the government, there is now added reason why this rule should be strictly observed.

How can we consistently demand that autocracy be overturned in Germany, and that the German people themselves be truly represented in their government at the present time, if we do not studiously avoid anything that looks toward even the appearance of autocracy at home? While we insist that the world be made safe for democracy, let us make sure that that governmental principle is still regnant in our midst. The voice of the people must be clearly heard at Washington, the coordinate branches of the government must continue to exercise their constitutional functions; in a word, democracy must rule on this side of the Atlantic, if our anti-autocracy campaign against a corrupt and medieval German government is to be armed with consistency and justice as well as with strength. All this may be done without weakening the executive's arm in the exercise of his grat constitutional powers.

RELEASE THE PRISONERS

One of the terms of the proposed armistice to Germany may be that all allied prisoners of war must be released at once and unconditionally. In the British House of Commons on Wednesday it was stated by one of the members that the treatment accorded to British persons was so inhuman as to be beyond human expression. As a fact, it is known that those British prisoners who have succeeded in escaping from their German tackmasters have tales of hardships that are almost unbelievable. Rumors coming continually from German prison camps are of the same character, and in view of these circumstances we believe the allied council now in session at Versailles will be justified in adding as a condition that all allied war prisoners be released immediately.

When these men come home then the truth will be known, but it should be known before peace is concluded with Germany or Austria-Hungary. The allied countries should know exactly just what kind of brutes the Huns really are, and then peace terms should be drawn accordingly. It only by such means that people of this character are brought to a realizing sense of their brutal treatment of prisoners who were so unfortunate as to fall into their grasp. By releasing the prisoners as a prelude to an armistice it will be possible to tell just what manner of treatment they receive, which will no doubt be quite illuminating when it comes to framing the final terms of peace. The armistice should be severe enough, for the Hun is not to be trusted and every precaution should be taken before any of the allied offensives are halted. In the meantime the allied armies will carry the war to Jerry.

SHOULD HAVE NO VOICE

Germany appears to be under the impression that she will have representatives at the peace table, when terms of settlement of the present great war are to be determined upon. Just why such a courtesy should be extended we do not know, for if the voice of the people were to determine that question it is hardly likely that the request or courtesy would be granted. In any event Germany is not entitled to any representation.

Germany has been arrested in a criminal undertaking in which the people of the entire world would have suffered had she been successful. Now that her aims have been defeated she is only entitled to the same consideration as the criminal in the dock, who is on trial for his crimes. Even today, as her military leaders are asking for an armistice her armies are destroying property in Belgium and France not because of the necessity of war, but from pure devilishness. Thousands upon thousands of people in those devastated provinces have been deported and are today in a condition little better, if even as good, as slavery. And now, when that criminal nation is about the end of her rope she has the galvanized nerve to think she is entitled to representation at the peace table. As we have said before, Germany's part in the peace negotiations should be confined to saying "Yes, sir" and placing her signature when the allies say "sign here."

The drawing up and signing of the new declaration of independence at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, by the representatives of twelve long-oppressed nations of Europe would be a great historical event even if the Mid-European States conerned did not have a combined population of 65,000,000 and had not sent 10,000,000 more as immigrants to the United States. That such an important document is impressive goes without saying, written as it is at a time when the principle of the consent of the governed is proclaimed throughout the world; but it does not and could not be expected to equal the matchless Declaration written by the immortal Jefferson.

How the Herring Built the Navy.

We derive the idea of our defensive British navy from King Alfred, the real founder of our fleet, who believed in having bigger, faster, better and more ships than your enemy, which is always a sane policy to follow. But Oliver Cromwell really gave us our herring navy when he saw the necessity of taking their sea-trade dominance from the Dutch, which trade was mostly concerned with the herring fishery.—Tit-Bits.

Use plenty of newspapers about the kitchen, spreading them on the floor when anything is likely to spatter. It is easier to gather them up than to clean up. If there is a kitchen range not in use in the summer time it is well to burn these papers every few days to prevent dampness and rust. If the kitchen has but a gas range, then a good-sized waste basket should be kept and the papers disposed of in whatever way is best.

MORON DIVISION INCREASES TRACKAGE

The Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad will, after today, operate that part of the Panhandle between Birmingham, (South end of the Smithfield street bridge) and Scully yards, also the Ohio Connecting railroad, which connects with the Ft. Wakne route at Woods Run.

These changes mean that C. H. Markham, regional director of the Allegheny region, railroad administration, will operate the Pennsylvania system in and around Pittsburg as far as Conway without regard to the Pennsylvania Lines West and Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburg. As there are no passenger trains operated over the tracks assigned to the Monongahela Division only freight traffic is affected.

Not the Ordinary Fare.

During a visit in his churchly capacity through southern Maryland, Cardinal Gibbons was entertained by the Order of Jesuits at Leonardtown. That part of the state is famed for its diamond-backed terrapin, canvas-back duck, oysters, crabs and fish, and a sumptuous table was spread before the cardinal.

During the repast the cardinal turned to a priest near him and said, with a twinkle in his eye:

"So this is the way the Jesuits dine!"

"No, your eminence," replied the priest, "this is the way the cardinal dines!"—Judge.

Gift to the Garbage Children.

Bessie on her birthday received a new doll. Her old one she proposed discarding, so she said: "I think, mamma, I'll give it to the garbage man. He can take it to the garbage woman and she can fix it up for the little garbage children to play with."—San Francisco Chronicle.

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Removed the Cause of this Woman's Illness.

Worcester, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a weakness and pain which used to keep me in bed for two days each month. I tried many doctors without benefit until I was really discouraged. My mother urged me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had helped her so much. I did so and soon saw a change for the better. I kept on taking it and am now so well and strong that I can do all my housework, even my washing and I have a little baby who is as healthy as I could ask—thanks to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. F. H. STONE, 24 Bowdoin St., Worcester, Mass.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headaches and nervousness should lose no time in giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

BODILY RESISTANCE The One GREAT PROPHALAXIS AGAINST INFLUENZA

Bodily resistance is the one REAL insurance against disease. This vital condition result altogether from proper nerve action. There is but one chief place in the body that causative interference with nerve action can occur—the SPINE. When this interference is of such a nature to effect the carrying capacity of the nerves, it will prevent proper transmission of vital force from the brain to bodily parts, in a like matter that grounding an electric wire—between the dynamo and bulb—would effect the expression of current in the lamp.

For this reason, when disease in any of its forms does occur it is on account of such interference. For instance the nerves from the backbone supplying the kidneys with functioning power are interfered with at the point where they leave the spine. Certain poisons which should be eliminated by these organs are retained in the system. In a like manner nerves carrying vital force to the respiratory and alimentary tract may be interfered with by subluxated vertebra in the spine, reducing their functioning and resistive power. The resultant symptoms, may be given the name influenza, or if in one of the 400 the foreign prefix Spanish is added.

Now for once use a little common sense, throw all prejudice to the winds and at the first opportunity see your local chiropractor and have him examine your spine and find out just where you stand. It will cost you absolutely nothing for examination, and if adjustment will help you he will tell you. Dont class him with "quacks" and that detestable creature the "War Profiteer."

Chiropractic consists entirely of removing pressure from nerves by Spinal Adjustments allowing nature to restore perfect health.

MIGHT LAND UP IN MORGUE

At the Best It Would Be Hospital for Man Who Yelled "Hurrah for the Kaiser!"

Two men talking on the rear platform of an East Tenth street car were discussing the poor service and how long it would take a person to get any place by depending on the city cars, when one of the men said that he had heard of a quick way to reach the city hospital.

He explained that while he was down town a few days before, he had overheard the conversation between a man who was evidently a stranger and another man of Irish descent.

"Could you tell me the quickest way to get to the city hospital?" inquired the stranger.

"Sure," said the man of Irish descent, "you walk one square east, turn to your right and go one square south. There you will find a recruiting station. Go in there and yell: 'Hurrah for the kaiser!' and when you come to you will be in the city hospital.'

The man who told the story said he thought that was one way of reaching the city hospital in record-breaking time, but his friend did not agree with him.

"Why don't you agree with me?" asked the first man. "Don't you think the plan a good one?"

"Oh, the plan is all right," replied his friend, "but I think the destination is all wrong. Any man going into a recruiting station and yelling: 'Hurrah for the kaiser!' would make a quick trip somewhere, but not to the city hospital. I think he would break all records getting into the city morgue."—Indianapolis News.

ACROSS OCEAN IN AIRPLANE

Expert Is of Opinion That Successful Flight Will Be Made Before End of Year.

The most famous voyage in the history of the world was made in 1492. Columbus sailed from Spain, touched the Portuguese coast, paused at the Azores, and then drove across the uncharted seas until his jollyboats nosed the sands of a new world.

Another voyage that will shine in history beside that of Columbus will almost surely reverse the route of the great discoverer—from the American continent at Newfoundland, say, to the Azores, thence to Portugal and finally to France. But it will be made through the skies by airplane. And if there is anything in prophecy based on science it will be made this year.

At least this is the settled opinion of Maj. Gen. William S. Brancker, controller general of equipment on the British air council. General Brancker is now in Washington to help co-ordinate the effort of the allies in the air. His position as to the flight across the Atlantic is simply this: That it must be done some time in the present war, that it is already possible to do it, and that therefore it should be done now. Once the first flight is an accomplished fact he sees steadily growing fleets of huge planes making the trip as a regular part of the independent aerial offensive.—From Committee on Public Information.

Allies Have More Wheat.

England and France have made a remarkable wartime record in raising crops this year. The French crop of wheat promises to be 130,000,000 bushels more than last year, and England probably will have 30,000,000 more than in 1917.

With 220,000 fewer male laborers on the land than before the war, England and Wales have planted 33 per cent more land to crops this year than in 1916, and the area of grain is the largest on record. The increase in grain and potatoes is 2,042,000 acres. Scotland and Ireland are expected to show almost as great an increase. The wheat acreage in England and Wales is 2,665,000 acres; oats, 2,820,000 acres; barley, 1,690,000 acres; rye and minor grains, 682,000 acres; potatoes, 645,000 acres.

The entire wheat area of the United Kingdom this year as estimated by Broomhall is 2,900,000 acres, on which the crop may exceed 100,000,000 bushels.

Fate's Playfulness.

A lean young infantryman, hurried across France with his regiment, was flung into a fight near Chateau Thierry with scanty sleep and short rations, went over a crest with the first wave of assault, emerged from a mix-up with a German bayonet none the worse except for a tear in the seat of his breeches, escaped by a miracle every blast in the murderous crossfire of German machine guns and finally came out one of the few unscratched ones in his platoon. He dropped on the ground, doubly thankful for the promise of a few moments' rest, but he bounded up again in the agony of his first wound. His face had landed in a bunch of nettles.—Stars and Stripes.

New Invention.

A recent invention which has not been marketed as yet, but is reported to be a great success, is an electric roller for use in making the much-needed five-yard rolls of bandages. The new device is not only a great time and labor saver, but requires little practice to learn to operate. The rollers operated by hand, as they have been, heretofore, require skill and training to operate them successfully, and the work is strenuous. By rolling electrically the operator is able to keep both hands on the bandage, while in hand operation one hand guides the roll or bandage and the other operates the roller.
